"ID Bank" CJSC Chairman of the Council

Address of the Chairman of the Council

Dear Customers, Investors and Partners,

In 2017, it was a turning point in terms of complex transformation for the Bank. We have chosen the path of deep modernization of IDBank, to ensure high quality customer service, various innovations and significant progress in digitalization. The rapidly changing world is posing various challenges in front of financial institutions globally, and we at IDBank know how to address these challenges.

We are striving to become the First Choice Bank for our customers - as the Best Innovative Bank. In order to achieve this goal the Bank needed structural changes in its operating model, therefore Digital Banking and Operational directorates have been established to promote new digital technologies and to dramatically increase the quality of services provided to customers.

In 2017, the Bank also pursued its active operations in providing investment services – four tranches of bonds were issued, which were placed ahead of the defined terms.

I would state with pleasure that IDBank developed its leading positions in the banking sector of Armenia.

I express my deepest gratitude to our Customers, Investors, Partners and Employees for trust and mutually beneficial cooperation. We are committed to continue IDBank modernization to achieve our goals, and I am positive that in 2018 we all will see the first successful results of our initiatives.

Respectfully, V. Dilanyan

Economic Developments*

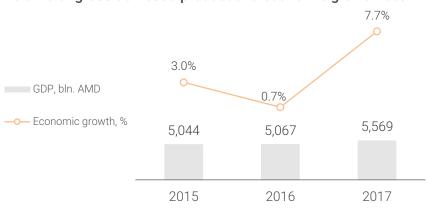

In 2017, the global economy demonstrated a growing trend driven by the expansionary monetary and fiscal policies implemented in the emerging economies and developed markets, as well as by the investment and export growth.

According to IMF, the global economic growth in 2017 contracted 3.8% (against the 3.2% growth in 2016).

This trend of economic growth has also influenced on the pricing as a result the inflation rate in the emerging economies reached the level of 1.7% and in the developed markets - 4.0%.

In 2017, Armenia demonstrated an economic growth of 7.5% too. The manufacturing industry and services sectors mainly grew due to an increase in the external and domestic demand indicators. The agricultural sector showed an annual decline.

Economic growth led to the increase in both the income and loan burdens of households.

Volume of gross domestic product and economic growth rate

The consumer prices in Armenia comprised 2.6%, staying within its target range.

In 2017, the fluctuation in the Armenian currency market was low while Armenian dram depreciated against the major foreign currencies.

Development of the Armenian banking sector

The developments in the economic system were reflected in the performance of the Armenian banking sector. The increase in domestic demand contributed to the growth of the extended loans volume and to the enhancement of the loan portfolio quality of the banking sector. The share of non-performing loans of the banking sector has dropped to 5.1%.

The growth of loan offer was conditioned by the high economic activity and the high level of competition between the commercial banks. Because of the competition, there were improvements in the terms and conditions of loan products as well as loan extending procedures were simplified to attract more clients.

Results of the implementation of the Development Strategy for 2017

The Bank successfully completed the year of 2017 with the amount of AMD 1,847 mln. of net profit (as measured under IFRS), which exceeds the amount contracted in 2016 by 65.4% (in 2016 it constituted AMD 1,117 mln.). The operating income before provisions increased by 71.6%, mostly due to the net interest income, and comprised AMD 10,935 mln.

Net interest income, mln. AMD

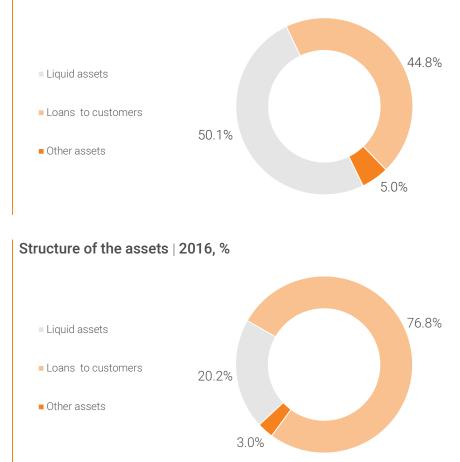

In 2017, the assets of the Bank decreased by 54.4% and comprised AMD 128,858 mln.

This is due to the fact, that in the fourth quarter of 2017, the Bank temporarily suspended international market financing and major investment projects, focusing on the development and financing of the Armenian market while restraining the possible risks.

Because of this policy, the volume of credit investments was declined and the structure of the assets was changed.

Independent Auditors' Report

To the Shareholders and Council of Anelik Bank CJSC

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Anelik Bank CJSC (the "Bank"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 December 2017, the statements of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes, comprising significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Bank as at 31 December 2017, and its financial performance and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS).

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Bank in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (IESBA Code) together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the Republic of Armenia, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the IESBA Code. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

The key audit matter	How the matter was addressed in our aud
Loans to customers comprise more than 45% of assets and are recognised net of impairment allowance that is estimated on a regular basis and is sensitive to assumptions used. The estimation of the impairment loss allowance on an individual basis requires management to make judgements to determine whether there is objective evidence of impairment and to make assumptions about the financial condition of the borrowers and expected future cash flows. The assessment of impairment loss allowance on impaired mortgage loans and consumer loans secured by real estate is based on analysis of future cash flows expected from realisation of underlying collateral. The collective impairment loss allowance relates to unsecured retail loans and losses incurred but not yet identified on other loans. Due to significant amount of loans to customers as well as uncertainty inherent to the estimation of impairment allowance, this issue is a key audit matter.	 Our procedures in this area included: assessing and testing the design and operating effectiveness of the controls over Bank's loan impairment process – including: controls over the monitoring process management review process over the calculation of impairment allowance; application controls over the system's calculation of overdue days; for individually significant loans: performing a credit assessment of a sample of loans to determine whether they are individually impaired; for loans classified as impaired assessment of the reasonableness of the amount and timing of estimated recoverable cash flows, including realisable value of collateral. Where available we compared the assumptions and estimates made by the management to externally available information; for retail loans: testing the accuracy of key inputs into the collective impairment allowance assessment models; assessment of the appropriateness of the impairment calculation methodology; for impaired mortgage loans and consumer loans secured by real estate assessment of the analysis of future cash flows expected from realisation of underlying collateral.

Litigation contingency Please refer to the Note 27 in the financial statements.
On 2 March 2018 the First instance court satisfied the claim against the bank and decided to levy USD 22,301 thousand from the Bank. The assessment of whether a provision for litigation should be recognised requires management to make significant judgements to determine the likely outcome of the litigation.	 Our procedures in this area included: we examined the agreement between the Bank and the claimant, First instance court decision and the grounds of appeal submitted by the Bank to the Court of Appeals. we involved our in-house legal specialist in assessing management analysis of the likely outcome of the litigation; we assessed the adequacy of the disclosures relating to this litigation.

Management is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report but does not include the financial statements and our auditors' report thereon. The annual report is expected to be made available to us after the date of this auditors' report.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we will not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above when it becomes available and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with IFRS, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Bank's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Bank or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Bank's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonable be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Bank's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Bank's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Bank to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

Anelikbank CJSC Independent Auditors' Report Page 5

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
